The first AquaForum in Jeju organized by the World Aquaculture Society and supported by the Korean Government showed an enormous interest in this type of events that bring the suppliers, academics and farmers together. After the success of the first Middle East Aquaculture Forum in Dubai, MEAF is reaching out to another prime aquaculture destination, namely Tehran, Iran.

The country's diverse knowledge base and its community of highly trained aquaculture professionals make Iran, Teheran an obvious venue for the next MEAF edition.

With its central location in the Middle East, its direct access from/to over 78 global destinations and its state-of-the-art meeting facilities and hotels, Teheran is set to solidify the success of the Middle East Aquaculture Forum.

This first Middle East & Central Asia Aqua Forum will include several renowned aquaculture meetings and will provide a truly international platform for academics, aquaculture experts and industry alike.
